INTRODUCTION AND GENERAL OVERVIEW

The West Hills Community College District (the “District”) is within the California Community College System. For more than 80 years, West Hills Community College District has been an integral part of the west side of the San Joaquin Valley. From its roots as a small extension center to leading the way in online learning, the District now covers nearly 3,500 square miles with colleges in Coalinga and Lemoore, the Firebaugh Center, three child development centers throughout neighboring rural communities, the Farm of the Future and the Rodeo Arena facilities at the north end of Coalinga, and the District Office. West Hills Community College District has positively impacted the lives of the region’s students and will carry on this tradition for many years to come.

West Hills College Coalinga

In 1932, West Hills College (WHC) Coalinga was established as the flagship campus for the District. WHC Coalinga is located on the west side of Central California’s San Joaquin Valley at 300 West Cherry Lane in Coalinga, California, and consists of 199,229 gross square feet (GSF). WHC Coalinga is one of the few Community Colleges in California that provides on-site dormitories for its students. The campus is predominantly rural and its students are diverse and geographically disbursed.

The Farm of the Future is located on 123 acres at 31373 W. Gale Avenue in Coalinga California. The facility boasts 28,454 GSF of state-of-the-art agriculture facilities with on-site infrastructure to support irrigation technology and management equipment. The production farm serves as an educational laboratory for students and as a demonstration site for cutting-edge technology in the agricultural industry.

West Hills College Coalinga - Rodeo Arena

The Rodeo practice opportunities at West Hills are among the finest in the nation. Located at 31402 W. Gale Avenue in Coalinga California, the Rodeo Arena and surrounding grounds provide students with three practice arenas, 60 student horse stalls, a spectator seating area, tack storage, and restrooms and student support facilities. The rodeo program is known nationwide for fielding national and regional championship individuals and teams.

West Hills College Coalinga - Firebaugh Center

The District recently completed a Firebaugh Center Expansion Project providing a new 41,263 square foot facility consisting of a library, classrooms, laboratory spaces, related support spaces, and a new Fresno County Library and field office for the California Department of Food and Agriculture. Located at 900 O Street, Firebaugh, California, the Firebaugh Center serves a dynamic community through specialized instruction.

West Hills College Lemoore

West Hills College (WHC) Lemoore is located on 108 acres at 555 College Avenue in Lemoore, California, and its facilities consist of 206,339 GSF. WHC Lemoore is located west of Highway 41.
